Thank you to all of you who either drove and/or participated in the Outdoor Challenge with us! I saw so many dig deep and do things they never thought they could before! My hope is that our class was brought closer together through the morning activities and realize that we need to work as a team in many of life's activities!! Great job guys. (Hopefully K-Learn captured some of our heroics!!)

What We've Been Doing!

We are plugging away with learning place value when working with decimals as well as finding patterns in our problem solving. In Home of the Brave we have already covered GENRE, VOICE and characteristics of a character. Kek has done some funny things as he is learning his way in America. In science we had an experiment in which we found evidence of photosynthesis in a plant. Ask your student what we found! Anytime goggles are involved, it's a good time! We will begin looking a different Native American cultures this week and ways they differ.

Token Question:

The country of Sudan, where Kek is from, has had years of civil war. What is a civil war??

I am attending a Bully Training Conference both Monday and Tuesday of this week. Dara Dyer will be subbing for our class. Please help make those two days seamless for her!

Thank you to the Cotter's for supplying us with a much energy snack on Friday!!
