

Kindergarten News

Thank you, parents, for taking the time to come in and visit with me for your child's conference. I enjoyed the opportunity to share the progress your child has made and also set some goals for the next quarter of school. I am so proud of each one of them!

Odds and Ends:

Rebekah fell off the small slide last Wednesday and broke her left elbow. She will be in a cast for five weeks. She may need a little extra assistance with the bathroom, getting her coat on, and other tasks, so please be mindful of that.

The November Scholastic Book Order is due on Tuesday if you wish to order books this month.

Most of the children need new crayons. You can send a new box of the eight fat Crayola crayons or the eight basic colors in Twistables. They love new crayons! Thank you.

We are going to start something new for Science. We will pass along "Mrs. Swee's Super Science Bag" each week. When your child comes home with the science bag, choose an experiment that your child can easily share with the class. We will have the "Super Scientist" day on Wednesdays from 12:40- 1:00. I think this will be a great way for students to explore and share their observations and for the parents to be involved at home.

Afternoon parents, if there is not any make-up or fix-its to do with students, please sit on the floor with them during rest and read time and listen to the children practice reading their little books. They are very excited to be able to read some on their own, but still need help, so I would prefer you do that over tub jobs.

Thanks for all you do in the classroom! You are all doing a super job with the children and a great help to me!
